Union Chief Again Faces Senate Quiz

Gets New Counsel But Gives No Hint If He'll Clam Up

BY G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets investigators called President Dave Beck of the Teamsters Union for a new round of questioning today about his handling of union funds.

He appears today with a new attorney, but he has given no indication he will be any more communicative than he was last March. Then he took refuge behind the Fifth Amendment's protection in refusing to tell the senators whether he had diverted $320,000 of union moneys to his own use. He pleaded that answers might incriminate him.

Indicted On Tax Dodge
At the March hearing, Beck's chief counsel was former Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.), who since has withdrawn. His new lawyer is Edward Bennett Williams.

Beck since has been indicted on federal income tax charges. He is free on bond.

Whether he answers questions or not, Beck has stern orders from Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) to sit through the public hearings at which McClellan said other witnesses will give "derogatory" testimony about Beck.

McClellan said he wants to quiz Beck on these three scores in hearings to continue "well into next week":

1. Beck's handling of union funds, and reputed profits from business dealings with his own union.

2. Whether Beck has any ammunition with which to back up his now repudiated comment to newsmen that if he told all he knew it could "blow the lid right off the Senate." Beck later said he was misquoted.

3. Whether Beck has any knowledge about what McClellan termed a "conspiracy" to prevent committee from locating four key missing witnesses—Beck's son Dave Jr. among them.

Believes Beck Knows
Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.), the committee's vice chairman, told newsmen "it is beyond belief that Beck wouldn't know" the whereabouts of the missing four. The other three are Frederick Verschuor Jr., the union's chief auditor in the 13 Western states; and two relatives of the senior Mrs. Beck, Joseph McAvoy and Norman Gessert.

McClellan's committee announced yesterday it is postponing until June 15 the start of its hearings on alleged gangster infiltration of Teamsters Union locals in the New York City area.

Four Boys Nabbed In Texas After Staging Fatal Holdup

STERLING CITY, Tex. (AP)—Four boys only 12 and 13 years old were taken into custody last night after a filling station attendant was shot to death in an attempted holdup.

They were captured after their car ran a police roadblock and turned over at San Angelo, Tex., 43 miles southeast of Sterling. Sheriff Bill Green of Sterling County identified them as Mike Martinez, 13; Herman Lee Wright, 13; Doyle Hall, 12; and Mickey Rocha, 13.

Mike, Wright and Hall were slightly hurt when the car was wrecked.

Envoy Slated To Report On Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roving Ambassador James P. Richards returns today to report to President Eisenhower that Middle Eastern countries are largely united in their determination to resist the spread of Soviet communism.

Richards has visited 15 Middle Eastern countries during the last two months. He headed a mission sent to explain the Eisenhower program for using force if necessary to oppose any open aggression by international communism, and meanwhile to strengthen the region with economic and military assistance.

Before leaving Rabat, Morocco, last night, Richards told newsmen most of the countries accepted the principle of the Eisenhower program.

"None of the 15 nations which this mission has visited rejected proposals of American aid in the framework of the doctrine," he said.

Richards is understood to have committed about 115 million dollars of aid funds. Congress has authorized use of up to 200 million for the program.

Officials said the mission was on the whole highly successful in focusing attention in the area on the Communist threat. It brought expressions by a dozen or more governments of determination to oppose communism.

Storms Rake West Sector

By The Associated Press
Stormy and wet weather hit wide areas in the western two-thirds of the country today but it was mostly fair and warm again in the eastern sections.

After several days of comparative mild weather in most of the nation, storms erupted yesterday and last night in parts of the central plains and upper Mississippi Valley. Tornado warnings were issued for areas in the Dakotas and Minnesota, but no twisters reported.

However, a funnel cloud was sighted near Aberdeen, S. D.

Showers Seen Over Weekend

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Scattered thunder-showers in extreme Western Maryland Thursday, and may spread eastward Friday and continue over the weekend, but amounts will be spotty and generally less than one quarter of an inch. Temperatures will continue quite warm, averaging about seven degrees above normal.

Brazos Flood Perils Texas Farm Section

DALLAS (AP)—Floodwaters of the muddy lower Brazos River already swirling over a 100-square-mile area of the coastal plains southwest of Houston, continued today to menace rural areas and towns.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were flooded, washing out spring crops and adding to the mounting flood and tornado damage inflicted during the past stormy month in Texas. Total damage was set at $5 million dollars yesterday.

The Brazos spread to a width of 13 miles in places. An estimated 125 families fled their homes. Water inched to within two miles of Angleton in Brazoria County, some 42 miles southwest of Houston. The town lies 12 miles from the normal banks of the river.

Levees were patched up in an effort to hold the rising water. National Guardsmen and state police were standing by to evacuate flooded residents.

Maryland Woman, 48, Ends Life With Bullet

SALISBURY (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Hunkapiller, 48, died in Peninsula General Hospital last night of what State Police said apparently was a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Mrs. Hunkapiller, of RFD 3, Berlin, was found shot in the temple in a bedroom of her home. State Police said she apparently shot herself with a .38-caliber revolver.

Soviet Ousts U. S. Official, Seek Reason

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says Russia has ordered a U. S. diplomat — Martin S. Bove Jr. — expelled from Moscow without giving any explanation.

Press officer Lincoln White, said the U. S. Embassy has demanded to know why. Bove is second secretary of the embassy in Moscow.

The Russians imposed no deadline for his leaving. The move was regarded as possible retaliation for the U. S. ouster last month of Gennadiy Maslankin, a member of the Soviet Embassy staff here. The Russian was expelled for trying to entice Russians living in the United States to return to the Soviet Union.

White was asked why Bove's ouster might have been requested. "We know of absolutely nothing," he said. The press officer added that the Soviet Foreign Ministry had said Bove must leave immediately because of "activities incompatible with his status as an accredited diplomat."

Bove, 40, is from Holyoke, Mass. He is a veteran of eight years in the diplomatic service.

Postal Fund Hike Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield advised Republican congressional leaders today that increasing mail volume may require expanding the 1958 postal budget by millions of dollars.

In the face of the congressional budget cutting drive, this word was offered at President Eisenhower's weekly meeting with GOP Senate and House leaders. Summerfield sat in on the session.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said the required extra funds might be in the order of 43 million dollars.

Langley Set To Continue Court Fight

D. A. Appeal Seen After Removal By Judge In Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—William M. Langley, the Portland district attorney convicted of failure to prosecute gamblers, won a little more time in office yesterday, but apparently he will have to go to the State Supreme Court to get a further extension.

State Circuit Judge Frank J. Loneragan declared the office vacant yesterday, but after hearing further argument from Langley's attorneys decided not to file the judgment until tomorrow.

Judge Expects Appeal
He indicated he expects Langley's attorneys to file an appeal then, and further that he will let the State Supreme Court decide whether Langley's removal from office should be stayed while the appeal is processed.

Langley's conviction called for removal from office and a possible fine. Loneragan set the fine at $100, to be imposed when the judgment is filed tomorrow.

Langley, 41, was convicted April 13, but has held on to his office in a series of court hearings since.

Meanwhile, the trial of Langley's principal accuser, racketeer James B. Elkins, continued in U. S. District Court here on wire-tap charges.

Clyde C. Crosby, top Teamsters Union official in Oregon, testified against Elkins yesterday, identifying his voice on tape recordings the government has placed in evidence. The prosecution says the recordings are of wiretapped conversations.

Crosby is among those Elkins has accused of trying to move in on rackets here. Crosby, who has been indicted on nine state charges, has said Elkins is trying to frame him.

"Blackmail" Charged
He testified yesterday that Elkins once brought the tape recordings to his house, played them and said they would be damaging to the Teamsters.

"I told him that I didn't want any part of it if he thought he could use them to blackmail—to go ahead and shoot his best shot and he did. He took them to Seattle with the same result," Crosby said.

He did not elaborate on the reference to Seattle. That is the city where several top Teamsters reside, including President Dave Beck and Frank Brewster, head of the Western Conference of Teamsters.

U. S. Envoy, Wife Leave Reception For Red Official

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—U. S. Ambassador John Allison and his wife walked out on President Sukarno's reception for visiting Soviet President Klement Voroshilov last night because no seats were provided for them.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the Allison arrived at the time specified for the reception and found the usual program of Indonesian ceremonial dances already under way. A Foreign Office official spotted the American couple wandering down an aisle, ushered them to the front row, and left them standing.

Swiss Court Gives Rebuff To Reporter

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss Federal Tribunal today rejected the complaint filed by Associated Press correspondent Michael Goldsmith against his imprisonment for refusing to disclose his news sources in an espionage case.

Goldsmith was sentenced to 24 hours in jail by Examining Magistrate Hans Walder in Bern April 26. Walder is investigating the suicide of Atty. Gen. Rene Dubois and espionage charges against Federal Police Inspector Max Ulrich.

Goldsmith was the first newsman to disclose details of the allegations against Ulrich Marcy 20. Three days later Dubois shot himself in the attic of his home, and the Swiss government disclosed that he also was involved in the espionage investigation.

Ulrich was arrested May 2. He was charged with selling recorded telephone conversations of the Egyptian Embassy in Bern to Colonel Marcel Mercier, French intelligence officer attached to the French Embassy.

The information supplied by Ulrich is believed to have enabled the French to arrest a considerable number of Algerian nationalist leaders in France and Algeria in recent months.

Walter subpoenaed Goldsmith April 25 to question him about the sources of his information. Goldsmith refused to answer, basing (Continued on Page 2; Col. 3)

Lee Suggested Beck Successor As Union Leader

CHICAGO (AP)—William A. Lee, veteran Chicago union leader, last night was proposed as a possible successor to Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

Peter Hoban, president of Local 753 of the Milk Wagon Drivers Union, told the monthly meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor he would be glad to sponsor Lee as president of the Teamsters.

Lee, now an international vice president of the Teamsters and previously mentioned as a likely candidate to succeed Beck, said he is not a contender for the union president's job.

Reporter Dies In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Five minutes after he wrote what was to be his last story today, Los Angeles Times reporter Cyril (Pete) Zurkinden, 42, toppled over and died.

Zurkinden had been with the Times about two years. He had been suffering from heart disease. Before going into the Marine Corps in World War II, he worked on the Associated Press news staff in Annapolis and Baltimore and on newspapers in Ohio.

Pleas Slated For Backing On Program

Two Talks On TV, Radio To Be Given, Dates Not Decided

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the only way to make real cuts in spending is to bring about an easing of world tensions.

And, he told a news conference, he contemplates two nationwide television-radio addresses in an effort to muster public support for his budget and general legislative program.

Eisenhower said he first thought he could do the job in one TV-radio talk, but found he couldn't cover all the ground in less than two.

No specific dates for the talks have yet been set, he said.

Situation Must Improve

As for his budget, Eisenhower said it would be possible to make some minor reductions in his $71,800,000,000 spending proposals. It would be strange, he added, if Congress with all its experience could not find some savings.

But Eisenhower said vigorously the budget can't be cut markedly until the international situation has eased very, very greatly.

Eisenhower, trim in a summer weight brown suit, also discussed these matters.

HUMPHREY — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has been telling him for the last two years it will be necessary for him to leave the Cabinet to take care of personal business, but Humphrey has not yet submitted a resignation.

Just how long Humphrey will be able to remain is uncertain at this time. Eisenhower declined comment on reports that Robert B. Anderson, former deputy secretary of defense, will succeed Humphrey as head of the Treasury. There will be no announcement on a successor, Eisenhower said, until the nomination goes to the Senate.

TAX WRITEOFFS — Eisenhower said he agrees with Humphrey and Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) that rapid tax writeoffs for large business firms should be discontinued or drastically curtailed.

The President mentioned a couple of exceptions—national defense, for example.

DISARMAMENT — The Soviet Union's proposal for limited "open skies" military inspection is being studied carefully, Eisenhower emphasized, however, that the important thing is not how much the Russians are willing to open to inspection, but what military installations are located in the area.

Union Bosses Hit By NAM

NEW YORK (AP)—An official of the National Assn. of Manufacturers says the concern of union leadership for the worker and his rights is a "pose."

Charles L. Sligh, executive vice president of the NAM, made the statement yesterday. He commented on criticism voiced against the NAM and U. S. Chamber of Commerce the day before by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany said the two business organizations pose as friends of labor while advocating legislation that might destroy unions.

Market Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market mostly was a little higher today with aircrafts acting as the grade and quality of canned or frozen foods.

Dr. Campbell also said "the rapid increase in cellophane packaging" has given rise to "difficulties finding the chicken or turkey in frozen chicken or turkey pies" marketed by manufacturers working housewives.

Billboard Control Plan Studied

Compromise Seen On Federal Superhighway System

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise bill to control billboards on the 41,000-mile superhighway system has been drafted in an effort to satisfy all viewpoints.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), reporting this today, said he thinks the compromise will be approved by the public roads subcommittee he heads and will reach the Senate floor. He has called a meeting for May 17 to consider the compromise.

The new version embodies some ideas from the Eisenhower administration proposal and the bill introduced by Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.), as well as suggestions of various members of the Gore subcommittee.

A key feature of the compromise would reward states which enter into agreements to control billboards, instead of penalizing them for not doing so as the administration originally recommended.

The incentive would be an offer to pay the states 90% per cent of the cost of building the interstate system, rather than the 90% other year that it will be too late to try to stop a rash of advertising signs on the system.

Under a somewhat more liberal exemption provision, signs would be permitted which are "detracting from the interest of the traveling public and which, by reason of their location, frequency or character, do not impair the safety of travel or interfere with enjoyment of the natural beauty of the area."

Young Bachelor Jailed In Schoolgirl's Slaying

CLARKSBURG, W. Va.—James Burkhamer, young bachelor accused of strangling 12-year-old Charlene Vilain, waived a preliminary hearing last night.

The 24-year-old unemployed son of a Clarksburg widow was charged with murdering blonde, blue-eyed Charlene Vilain, said he had signed a statement. He was ordered held for the June grand jury.

A preliminary coroner's report said the girl apparently had been raped before her body was discovered Sunday night—on the wedding anniversary of her parents—in an alley behind her home. She lived about one-half mile from Burkhamer.

Sheriff Rex Baumgardner signed a warrant charging Burkhamer. The sheriff, Clarksburg Police Chief E. F. Amsler and State Police Lt. C. H. Carson questioned Burkhamer and said he had given them a statement describing the slaying.

Willis Walker Jr., a neighbor of the Vilain family, discovered the body. He told police he had driven into the alley to put his car away. His headlights picked up a man carrying a child and throwing the child over a fence.

Burkhamer was picked up for questioning Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vilain, parents of the slain girl, also have a 17-year-old son. The father is a motion picture theater projectionist.

Postal Boost Given Study, Seek Revenue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee today considers the increased postage rates for magazines, newspapers and advertising matter.

For advertising matter (third-class mail), the administration is asking a 1 cent raise on individual pieces, mailings, now 2 cents for the first two ounces, and an increase of 2 cents per pound on bulk mailings.

Yesterday the committee formally approved increased rates on first-class and domestic air mail that would add an estimated $363,000,000 a year in postal revenues.

These included increasing the first-class letter rate from 3 to 4 cents an ounce, post cards from 2 to 3 cents each, and air mail from 6 to 7 cents an ounce. Congress still must approve any rate hikes.

Last Refugees To Quit Kilmer

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—This former Army camp is slated to lapse back into obscurity tomorrow after a brief return to glory late last year when it became the threshold to freedom for thousands of Hungarian refugees. The last busload will leave the reception center after a brief ceremony.

All in all, over 25,000 refugees have passed through the camp to new homes in this country.

Negro Loses Role In School Opera, Mixing Opposed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A University of Texas music major plans to see an undergraduate opera even though she was removed from a leading role because she is a Negro.

"Of course I'm going to see it," said Barbara Louise Smith, 19, of Pittsburg, Tex. "We support these things."

State Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs said he asked that Miss Smith be removed from the opera because, as he put it, "the people of Texas don't want mixing of Negroes and whites publicly and the University of Texas should not do it from that standpoint."

Chapman is a leader of a bloc of legislators demanding stronger segregation measures.

The Federal Tribunal, Switzerland's supreme court, rejected Goldsmith's complaint in a closed session without giving any reasons. The tribunal's explanation of its decision is expected to be published within two or three weeks.

The tribunal's decision leaves Walter free to imprison Goldsmith for a further 10 days or fine him 200 francs ($70) if he persists in his refusal to reveal his news sources.

British Pianist Offered Job At Stockholm Hotel

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Stockholm newspaper today said a local hotel is trying to hire Princess Margaretha's British suitor to play its piano this summer.

The labor union paper Stockholm-Tidningen quoted the manager of the Strand Hotel as saying the pianist has been contacted and "negotiations are under way" for his appearance in a variety show at the hotel.

The Britisher is Robin Douglas-Horne, 25-year-old nephew of the Earl of Home. An advertising copywriter by day, he now plays piano for a hotel cocktail hour in London.

Douglas-Horne met Margaretha, 22-year-old granddaughter of King Gustaf VI, in London last winter. The Swedish royal family rejected his marriage proposal as "unthinkable," but friends of Douglas-Horne insist the romance is still very much alive.

Pleas Slated

(Continued from Page 1) Russia has proposed that the United States open Alaska and the Western part of the United States to Soviet air inspection in exchange for agreement to U.S. inspection of areas in Siberia.

STEVENSON—The Eisenhower administration offered Adlai E. Stevenson an assignment with the U.S. delegation to the United Nations three years ago. Eisenhower made that statement when asked whether he ever had considered offering an administration post to the Democratic presidential nominee of 1952 and 1956.

Stevenson said last Sunday he might be willing to accept such a job but that he had received no offer. He had said sometime earlier that he turned down a 1954 offer because he was not in a position at the time to accept.

MISSILES—Discussing the Defense Department order limiting the Army's development of guided missiles to those of only 200-mile range, Eisenhower questioned the feasibility of letting the Army engage in work on longer range missiles. Why, he asked, would the Army be interested in a missile with a 1,500-mile range?

Eisenhower went on to say that if the Army did have such a missile, it would need an air arm capable of operating 1,500 miles to find out whether the missile was working successfully.

Convicts Quiet After Rebellion

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP)—Subdued convicts at the North Dakota Penitentiary, driven back into their cells by a tear gas attack after a five-hour riot, were described as "quiet and normal" today. The 230 inmates barricaded themselves in a cell block yesterday and howled, cursed and smashed doors and tables in protest against the prison food and actions of certain guards.

Bismarck police led a tear gas attack which quelled the demonstration.

Woman Invokes 5th At Hearing

BALTIMORE (AP)—A secretary with a flair for dramatics spoke of many things before a House Un-American Activities subcommittee today but invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked if she is a Communist.

Mrs. Sirkka Tuomi Lee, an Eastern Stainless Steel Co. employee, also collided with the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) about his title.

After twice referring to Walter as "senator," the chairman asked Mrs. Lee, "Please don't call me senator."

Costello Gets 30 Days, Balked At Jury's Quiz

NEW YORK (AP)—Dapper gambler Frank Costello languished in a jail cell today because he refused to talk about a mysterious note on $51,284 in winnings.

The one time king of the nation's racketeers was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse yesterday after he clammed up before a grand jury.

He remained silent, he said, because answers might incriminate him. But a judge ruled him in contempt of court.

Police found the note on Costello after a pot-bellied assassin shot him Thursday night. The bullet only grazed the skull of the 66-year-old gambler.

The note read in part: "Gross casino wins as of 4-26-57: $51,284. Casino wins less markers $435,695."

"Marker" is betting slang for an IOU. One police theory is that somebody unable to pay off his "marker" decided to murder Costello.

The gambler was shot in the lobby of a swank apartment house overlooking Central Park. He was headed for his apartment when a gunman lunged into the lobby and fired a .38-caliber bullet at him.

After one fruitless session with the jury, Costello was taken before General Sessions Judge Jacob Schurman. The judge sent him back to the jury again with orders to talk.

Costello refused a second time, some of the estimates to date.

Pilot Killed In Jet Crash

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (AP)—One pilot was killed yesterday in the desert crash-landing of four U. S. jet training planes. The planes were part of the first flight of eight jet trainers to be turned over to the U. S. military training mission in Saudi Arabia.

Air Force authorities identified the dead pilot as Capt. Roger W. En route from Germany, the four planes ran out of fuel after encountering a violent, out-of-season desert storm.

The pilot was shot in the lobby of a swank apartment house overlooking Central Park. He was headed for his apartment when a gunman lunged into the lobby and fired a .38-caliber bullet at him.

After one fruitless session with the jury, Costello was taken before General Sessions Judge Jacob Schurman. The judge sent him back to the jury again with orders to talk.

Costello refused a second time, some of the estimates to date.

Steel Hike Seen Big NEW YORK (AP)—The magazine Iron Age said today next July's steel price increase could turn out to be bigger than orders to talk.

Costello refused a second time, some of the estimates to date.

Tax On Initiative

WITH INCOME TAX time of such recent and unhappy memory, it is a little difficult to divorce emotion from any discussion of the subject. Yet this is probably as good a time as any to do some further thinking about broad income tax policy. Personal income is one measure—though by no means the only measure, as some people seem to think—of a man's success. During the past few decades, personal income taxes have become the largest single source of federal revenue. It also has become customary to assess such taxes on a steeply ascending scale as individual income rises. There is a question whether we have gone too far along this line.

A VIGOROUS affirmative answer to this question was given recently by Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company. He thinks our present system of income taxation discourages men from giving their best efforts. "We set high standards of achievement," Greenewalt said, "yet when the rewards of achievement are won we reclaim most of them in the guise of taxation. We admire success, but penalize the successful; we admire talent, but penalize the talented; we admire initiative, yet penalize the initiator."

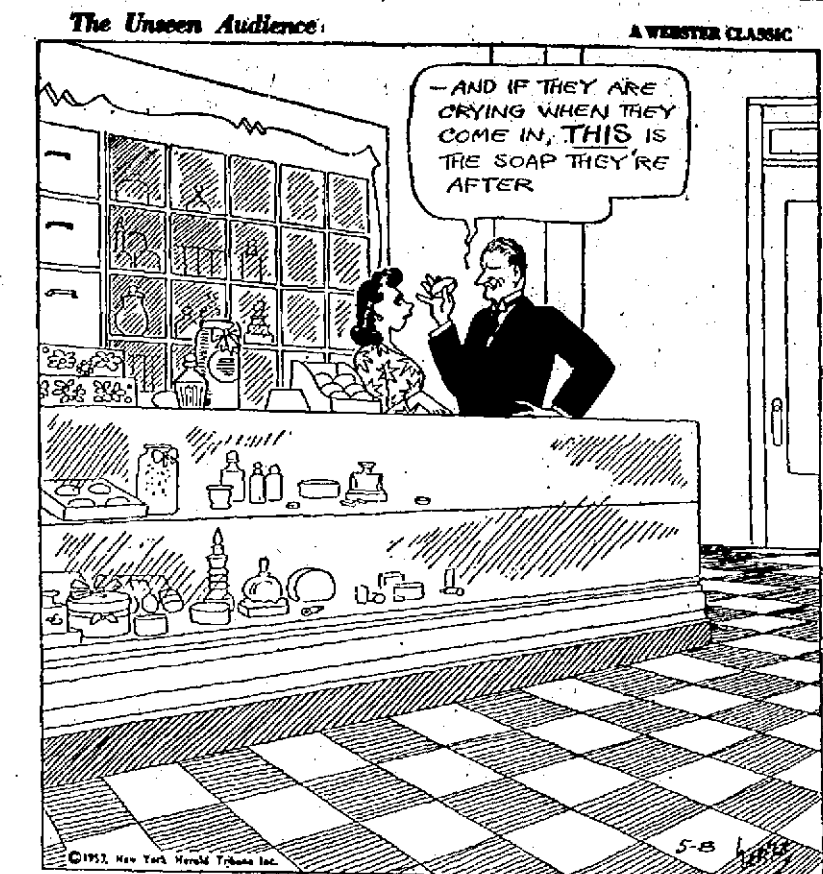

GREENEWALT HOLDS that political rather than moral considerations are responsible for the present tax setup. He suggested that more thought should be given to the moral implication of "taxing away 90 percent of one man's earnings so that another's tax might seem less unpalatable." This is one man's view. It has been—and will continue to be—sharply contradicted by others. But it is a view worth thinking about. Few things could do this country more damage in the long run than a serious curtailment of the desire to excel and give one's best efforts.

Issue For 1960

IT IS A GROSS mistake to gauge the future merely by the seeming surface course of day-by-day events and the immediate news as it is rushed to and upon us. There are undercurrents which sometimes run so deeply that their pressure is not felt for a long time. Eventually these undercurrents rise and toss wave upon wave across the surface. We are in such a period. Thinking of this and of 1960, it should be emphasized now that foreign affairs, foreign policy, the international scene will figure largely in the next presidential election. From now until that distant leap year November of decision, the international crisis will continue. Emotionally as well as financially and politically, it will go on affecting Americans all over the nation. And the flow of foreign news will pile upon the American mind. What are deep undercurrents now will be strong streams in 1960. Thus, it behooves leaders, candidates and aspirant candidates for the Congress as well as the highest offices of the land to keep abreast of foreign affairs and to be sure of their statements and their record. For the slow shaping up of the future suggests that foreign policy will be a very big issue of the 1960 campaign.

Robin The Red

MRS. ADA WHITE has not been reappointed to the Indiana Textbook Commission. Her departure from that body would not be widely noted, except for the fact that two years ago she took a determined stand against the Robin Hood legend. The story, maintained Mrs. White, was communistic, for wasn't Robin in favor of robbing the rich and giving to the poor? Patriots were able to rest easy while Mrs. White sat on the Indiana Textbook Commission. The outlaws of Sherwood Forest were revealed what they were, though Mrs. White never did make clear whether Robin and his merry men were Stalinists, Titoists, or Trotskyites. Let us hope that Mrs. White's departure from the commission will not discourage other worthy guardians of our way of life. A lot of good work remains to be done to purge our literature of unworthy books, myths and legends. No one has yet told the entire story of that Little Red Hen.

Ike Could Have Saved Long Phone Call

WASHINGTON—The other day President Eisenhower gave greetings over long distance telephone to a Republican regional conference at Salt Lake City, one of a number being sponsored by Republican National Chairman Meade A. Akin in preparation for the Congressional elections next year.

Among other things, the President asked the assembled Republicans from nine Mountain and Pacific Coast states to find out why the party did so poorly in that area in the 1956 election where it lost enough contests for Congress to give the Democrats control of both branches again, and also lost Governors and had its strength cut down in state legislatures.

If that is all the President wanted to know, he could have saved himself a call nearly all the way across the continent. Instead, he could have tuned in on a meeting in a hotel room a few blocks from the White House.

There a group of people interested in conservation of our water resources were having breakfast with a familiar, spunky gentleman who used to live at the White House himself.

Meaning Harry Truman who described the Eisenhower Administration's "partnership" policy for development of our water resources, which was under fire, as "a partnership where everything is divided even Stephen—the electric company gets the power house and the government gets the fish ladder."

THOSE THE ex-President ate with and later addressed constituted the Electric Consumers Information Committee. In the frequent reference to a name that is rapidly attaining the notoriety of Dixon-Yates—that is, Hell's Canyon—President Eisenhower had been there, would get the clue

Benson's Farm Plan Veto Of Present One

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has now made what is probably the shiest, most subtle, soft-shoe approach to a brand new farm program on record.

There may be method in his manner. He isn't sticking his neck out on any new farm plan, probably because he doesn't want to have his neck cut off—say at the ankles.

In this, he apparently wants to escape the fate of his predecessor, Democratic Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan. It will be recalled that in 1949 Brannan put forward what became known as the Brannan Plan for fighting what was wrong with U. S. agriculture.

President Truman urged its passage in his 1950 State of the Union message. But the Brannan Plan immediately became first priority duck on a rock for every Republican to heave dromedars at. The GOP succeeded in knocking off the Brannan Plan. They also ruined Brannan's later political ambitions.

ANYWAY, Benson doesn't want anything like that to happen to him. So what he has done is write a long letter to Sen. Allen J. Ellender chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

In great oversimplification it says that present farm programs and policies aren't working and they cost too much. This could be the greatest understatement of the year.

The secretary includes both Democratic and Republican farm policies in this condemnation. He says the Democratic price support and acreage allotment programs do not cut farm production enough and do not raise farm income.

He admits that the GOP surplus disposal and soil bank programs are the most expensive farm programs ever written—and that they don't do all they were supposed to do, either.

Benson says the correction of this situation should be taken up as an economic problem and not as a political issue. He offers to consult with Congress on new policies.

THIS IS apparently an effort to get a bipartisan or non-partisan program. It would take the curse of any purely Democratic or Republican farm programs which would be subject to political smearing and defeat.

For specific recommendations to correct what Benson says is wrong, he only "hints at them," as he says. What he hints at is that the acreage reserve soil bank should be allowed to expire in 1959 and that price supports should be made much more flexible.

The implication is that the farm economy should be much freer of controls which make farm prices too high and farm income too low.

The theory seems to be that lower price supports with fewer controls would be a better means to curtail surplus production.

Benson says this new approach has been discussed with President Eisenhower and the cabinet "in a general way." This is taken to mean that the Administration has no very definite program of its own, although the issue was discussed for a full day with the secret Agricultural Advisory Council.

THE SECRETARY does not authorized only for defense and war plants.

THIS government subsidy for Idaho Power may help the second attempt to get through Congress the Morse-Past Bill that would cancel the company's license issued by the Federal Power Commission and authorize, instead, one high Federal dam to be built by the government as recommended by the Army Engineers and as advocated by the Truman Administration to get the full potential of the site in power development and flood control.

The bill, which the Senate defeated by a narrow margin in the last Congress, was reported favorably last week by the Senate Interior Committee.

While here, former President Truman also urged emphasis on another related issue, which is his assessment that the Eisenhower Administration's policy on atomic energy will end up, in a few years, with a few big companies having control of this new source of energy.

AS IMPORTANT as the conservation issue, which stands out so clear in Hell's Canyon as a symbol, is another issue that is thrown into focus by the tax favors to Idaho Power.

This is the broad issue of special privileged treatment of big business and big finance by the Eisenhower Administration, which got heavy stress at the Democratic meeting here.

Mr. Truman pointed to it in another area. He showed how the "hard money" policy of the Administration, which has boosted interest rates, also has upped interest paid by the Treasury on the government debt. That is a boon for the bankers who buy government bonds. It all comes out of the taxpayer, for the sinking fund comes out of taxes.

THE MORNING after the vote by the secretive ones, speculators all over the land knew the details. The price of Northeast stock soared, fortunes were made, and the CAB has been trying ever since to learn what happened.

The Securities and Exchange Commission investigated. So did a Federal grand jury. Now we've got the special investigating committee of the U. S. Senate trying to learn who blabbed.

My own idea is that a better investigation would seek to discover who was the dope who decided the vote should be kept secret and then slap his ears. The least he could have done was pull down the shades.

THE SENATORS had before them one Lawrence Henderson, a kind of young man-about-town in the flying machine business. Henderson had been trying to cook up a deal whereby some New England financiers would buy control of Northeast and try to make it a credit to their part of the country. They'd have to buy it cheap, of course, and they couldn't do that if Northeast got the profitable Miami run.

So Henderson kept a close eye—literally—on the CAB. On the night of August 2 he was driving home by way of 14th Street and rule out the possibility of a new Eisenhower special farm message to Congress later on. But he says the Administration's responsibility is only "to point out the difficulties of the laws it must administer and to counsel with Congress regarding their solution." Nothing is said about the responsibility of the Administration to provide leadership.

Benson says there is no great hurry about correcting what's wrong with the farm program. He says the question of timing is up to Congress.

His hope is that a new program can be worked out early next year, but he would not object if a new program were worked out this year.

Though Benson apparently wants to minimize political considerations in working out new farm policy, they enter the picture unavoidably.

A nonpartisan farm program might have a better chance of being worked out this year than next. For the congressional elections of 1958 would certainly mean that politics would dominate any new farm laws written by Congress in that year.

Whitney Bolton Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Well, friends, as the last fellow in line around here let me say that this power steering bit on modern automobiles is all right and I have stopped listening to the prophets of doom who claim that it is the greatest killer of the human race since arsenic was invented.

FOR SOME months now, one or two people I know have come grumbling to me that power steering on a car is an evil, a peril and is daily killing people. Not to mention the bashed autes and crumpled fenders which often ensue without loss of life. One man even wrote to the president of a car company in Detroit and turned pretty bitter on the subject.

These men agree that power steering is a great thing when parking but that on the open road it is an assassin.

Recently, on the New Jersey Turnpike, a young fellow swerved at high speed to avoid hitting a stray dog and his car wound up in the oncoming lanes with fatal results.

"You see," said the bitter friend I have mentioned, "Power steering. One twitch of the steering wheel at high speed and he was across the road on the other side."

I DON'T KNOW if it was that way at all. The news stories didn't say so.

But power steering has been in my hands for a week now and it is only the greatest. In traffic, out of it, open road or cluttered, cluttered cross street, it is a boon. And as for parking, more potential heart victims probably are alive today due to power steering than statistics could show. Anyone who has ever tugged and wrenched a conventionally steered car into a tight space knows what I mean. It is sheer murder.

WHILE driving home the other night, with about 345 miles already piled up and not a soul or a policeman in sight, I pushed the car up to 75 miles an hour just long enough to try the power steering at high speed. It was pure heaven.

My bitter friend had said: "Oh, you'll be all right at 35, sure, but it's awful at 50 or 60. You have to grip the wheel like a maniac to keep from slewing off the road."

Well, dear boy, let us get down to facts and true experiences. It was 3 o'clock in the morning, the parkway was empty, or almost, all good little policemen were home in bed and I had this crate singing at 75, see, screaming along like a Hindu diamond.

And at 75, with just a casual hold on the steering wheel and no tension or trying to keep it from splitting my skull open on a tree, it followed the curves and took the straightaways as easy as rolling a bicycle.

When the parkway was straight it followed the lane like a trained whippet and it eased into and out of the curve without threatening to take me over into the next county.

IT WAS TOO new a car to hold at 75 for long—but it was long enough to give it a fair trial. I dropped it back to 40 and held that just as easily. And when we got to Sea Cliff and made the turn for the driveway it was like guiding a slip of paper.

Afficionados of power steering, the lads who never like to leave a car the way it came from the factory, tell me that the amount of strength necessary can be controlled by the amount of fluid in the steering mechanism.

If you want a wheel that will turn like a cat in a puddle of oil, fill it up. If you want a little more resistance, just because you always have had it in steering, reduce the amount of fluid. If the fluid happens to leak out totally, you will know it because it will be almost impossible to steer—it will bind.

ONE FELLOW came to me with a face as long as a Saxon pike and said: "I've found the weakness in all this power-assistance nonsense. Once the motor is off you are helpless. You can't steer and your brakes don't work. Terrible."

There didn't seem to be much to be gained by saying: "Who steers or uses brakes when a car is standing still with the motor turned off?"

Shades Should Be Lowered

WASHINGTON — Let us hope that our government soon will realize it's just not natural for humans, bureaucrats included, to keep a secret.

Anybody who figures otherwise, and this includes the five members of the Civil Aeronautics Board, is acting like an ostrich. Downright stupidly.

The distinguished members of the board are the babies who vetoed one hot night last August to award a New York-Miami flying route to Northeast Airlines. They also decided that same sweaty evening to keep their decision secret for eight days. Haw.

THE MORNING after the vote by the secretive ones, speculators all over the land knew the details. The price of Northeast stock soared, fortunes were made, and the CAB has been trying ever since to learn what happened.

The Securities and Exchange Commission investigated. So did a Federal grand jury. Now we've got the special investigating committee of the U. S. Senate trying to learn who blabbed.

Henderson had been trying to cook up a deal whereby some New England financiers would buy control of Northeast and try to make it a credit to their part of the country. They'd have to buy it cheap, of course, and they couldn't do that if Northeast got the profitable Miami run.

Hal Boyle Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — If you haven't seen as much of Liberace as you used to, there's a reason.

There isn't as much of him to see. His- tory's highest paid pianist—he went from 50 cents a night to two million dollars a year—has recently lost more than 30 pounds.

"My brother George and I went on a high protein diet," Liberace confided during a luncheon at the Essex House. "Nothing but meat, fish, fowl, vegetables—and fresh fruit."

"Once my stomach shrank I found that if I ate a roll I simply couldn't finish a meal. George lost 20 pounds and I dropped from 210 to 173."

THE DIET HAD ONE drawback. The new tiger-thin Liberace found his wardrobe, one of the most extensive and expensive in show business, unwearable.

The new Liberace also confided he has embarked on a new career—teaching. Teaching is traditionally one of the lowest paid professions. But the Liberace brothers plan to change that in their case.

Liberace soon will establish a chain of music schools across the country to teach piano playing by a method he says is the first new one in 20 years.

"It isn't, however, one of those 'learn to play in 10 easy lessons' systems. It is a complete music course, and includes harmony, theory, music appreciation—and showmanship," he said.

"Long after I am gone," he said in that tone of extreme unctious that has made his name a byword for a certain brand of charm, "my association with the piano will live on through this course."

SOME ARE ENCHANTED by the Liberace brothers' charm. Some find it a bit humid and oppressive. But whether you like it or not, it is like Niagara Falls in one respect—it is always turned on full faucet, and never runs dry in public.

Sample: When asked what he would like to have time write as his epiphany, Liberace replied instantly with his wide smile:

"If I have caused a few more people to smile in the world, I will not have lived in vain. I want only that the world shall be bettered because of my presence in it."

As I typed out, Brother George asked: "Have you heard my latest album? It's the first one to feature rock 'n' roll with a violin."

"George Liberace goes teenager! But you have to keep up with the times."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—The other warm Washington evening, a book-writing fellow named Ralph De Toledano gave a party for Nixon and newsmen. It was billed as "Informal," which the gentlemen of the press translated as meaning ill-clad. The reporter-facade featured inadequately anchored shirts, billowing in the breeze.

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon alone wore a vest.

I myself belong to the flapping tie and baggy pants school of journalism, but I had to admit that the vest on the Vice President made him look definitely more presentable than we unveiled. Paradoxically, the lack of vests made us look vestigial by comparison.

Nevertheless, I took it upon myself to advance upon Mr. Nixon and ask, rather querulously, why he was wearing a waistcoat to an informal gathering on a sweltering night.

I don't know what I expected, but it wasn't what I got. The Vice President proceeded to deliver an exhaustive lecture on the subject of vests. In a minute he had a class of non-vested non-vestals extending all the way to the vestibule.

"I always wear a vest," said the invested public servant, "even on the hottest days, in the most torrid climes. I even wore one in Ghana."

"DON'T YOU FIND it uncomfortable?" asked a journalist with enough shirt ballooning from his mizzen to sail the Mayflower II.

"I find it more comfortable," replied the Vice President. "I desire to be as delicate as possible about this, but a vest soaks up the heat."

Several of the more fastidious of us tried to tuck in our shirts as Mr. Nixon continued:

"I hate tie pins and tie clasps. People are forever giving me tie clasps, but I won't wear them. I have a whole drawer full of them."

"This ought to help the tie clasp industry," murmured an unvested, as if reciting his vestspers.

"I wear very light suits, winter and summer," said the Vice President, looking to the beautiful Mrs. Pat Nixon for confirmation, which she dutifully granted. "The vest doesn't make me any warmer. But my main reason for always wearing a vest is that I never know when I may be called upon to make a speech. I speak a lot, you know."

"I'll agree to that," muttered a reporter who did the recent vice presidential trek through Africa, and feels more traveled from east to west than Amerigo Vespucci.

"When I make a speech," persisted Mr. Nixon, "I frequently shove my hands in my pants pockets. Without a vest, this makes my shirt bulge out. There is nothing that distracts listeners more than a shirt popping and flopping at them."

"THE VEST ALSO provides me with another effective oratorical device. I can hook my thumbs in the armpits and strike a posture that would do credit to Henry Clay or Daniel Webster."

"But," objected a shirttail-popping reporter who is known as Giddy Giddy Gout to his intimates, "what happens with the vest if you put on weight?"

"There's another argument in favor of the vest," cried Mr. Nixon. "It warns you if you are gaining weight. You can't add half a pound without feeling it crowding against the vest."

"But, on the other hand, if you do put on weight, the vest helps to cover it up."

The Vice President switched abruptly from vests to golf. "I shot an 86 today," he crowed. "Three years ago I couldn't break 100."

"To what do you attribute your improvement?" asked a pragmatic reporter.

"I quit trying all the fancy stuff," replied Mr. Nixon. "I have two 'don'ts' which I would like to pass on to other struggling golfers. They are:

"One: Don't pivot. Two: Don't read golf instruction books. I read a golf book once and my score went up ten strokes!"

Salvation Army Study Of Services Underway

Services of the Salvation Army in Cumberland are being evaluated at the request of the Salvation Army Advisory Board.

The survey is being made by Lt. Commissioner Albert E. Chesham, Richmond, Va., who will present a preliminary report on his study at an Advisory Board meeting Monday at noon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

He said the Advisory Board had asked him to survey the current program and to make recommendations for continuing service to the people of Cumberland.

The Salvation Army has conducted an active program in Cumberland for over 70 years, and currently operates corps at the Citadel at 115 North Mechanic Street and the South Cumberland Corps at 511 Virginia Avenue. Considerable time is to be devoted, Mr. Chesham said, to the needs of the South Cumberland Corps, which will be affected by the construction of the Cumberland Thruway.

He termed the Salvation Army good insurance against Communism and community unrest, and said the Army goes into communities to do all the good it can on as little money as possible.

Pain In Neck Sometimes Real

MILWAUKEE (U)—The person who first made the remark: "He gives me a pain in the neck," was quite right, according to an authority on emotional causes of diseases.

Dr. John Schindler, addressing a convention meeting, said you can get such an ache through annoyance toward another person. This causes the pituitary gland to shoot a hormone through the body that will cause the neck muscles to tighten until they hurt, he said. Schindler is a Monroe, Wis., physician.

Man Admits Kidnaping

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Thomas John McNabola has pleaded guilty to a charge of kidnaping. He thereby moved out of the shadow of a possible death penalty.

McNabola, 41, of New Haven, Conn., had been indicted by a federal grand jury in the kidnaping of Warner T. Davis, an Accomack County deputy sheriff. He had entered a plea of innocent March 25 and was to be tried tomorrow.

But yesterday he appeared before Federal District Judge Walter E. Hoffman and changed his plea to guilty. That means the judge, rather than a jury, will hear the evidence tomorrow.

Only a jury, which McNabola had previously requested, can impose the death sentence in a federal court case.

McNabola and another man are accused of abducting the deputy sheriff last Aug. 19. Davis told the FBI he was watching a store at Onancock when he spotted and stopped a car. He said one of the men in the car hit him.

He was taken into the car and released several hours later at Wye Mills, Md.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Formerly gay, your matron worries about recent anti-social feelings.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a wife and mother, 25 years of age. I am happy in my marriage of three years; and overjoyed with the bliss of motherhood, since my daughter was born three months ago.

My problem is that in the past year or so, I have found myself withdrawing from people. In my teen years I always felt that I wanted everyone I met to like me; and I went out of my way to make it so.

Now it seems a complete reversal has taken place. I meet new people but don't seem to care whether or not they like me. Also, I was always one for conversation and laughter; but lately I am at a loss for words.

It bothers me terribly; I can't understand myself. Maybe it is the way of life? I expect this sounds trivial, compared to most of the problems you discuss; but I thought I'd take a chance. I would appreciate your views.—P. R.

Maybe Monotony's Getting Her Down

DEAR P. R.: It seems to me that you've hit the nail on the head, intuitively. In all probability, it is the very monotony of your perennal routine—as a contented housewife and (recently) mother—that is gradually enervating your personality, so that you no longer feel "up" to the requirement of a lively social exchange.

A passage in Abrahamson and Pezet's book "Body, Mind & Sugar" (Holt) reminds us that "in normal routine operations of work and play, it is the emotions of interest, zest and enthusiasm that stimulate the secretion of (certain) hormones."

"When the stimulus of zest is lacking and work is nevertheless performed, fatigue results; and the resulting fatigue gives further excuse for regressive wishes (or negative feelings)—and thus a vicious circle is initiated."

The authors of the foregoing are specifically discussing "a situation of chronic partial sugar starvation"—possibly related to psychological tensions—which must become progressively worse, unless the vicious circle is broken by placing the victim on a proper diet."

Their medically approved remedial diet is given on page 68 of their book; and it may, or may not, apply to your needs. But in any case, they've certainly spotlighted one of the occupational hazards of housewifery, namely: creeping boredom, caused by flat routine, that breeds social apathy and nameless dejection. In short, your symptoms.

Holding On To Being A Person

In a brochure titled "The Modern Mother's Dilemma," the mother-daughter writing team of Sidonie Greenberg and Hilda Frech takes a searching look at the housewife's frustrations—and makes suggestions on how to be (shall we say) housewife and person at the same time!

They concede it is ludicrous even to compare the lesser rewards of career work or hobbies with the deep and rich compensations of the ever-new delights that one's children give. And yet, they note that "few if any women enjoy unrelieved housework; and the undiluted companionship of even the most adorable children." Rather they insist it is ultimately good for all, if housewives and mothers "keep a hand in" the field of further social accomplishment.

How is this done? By cumulatively giving "precious minutes" of spare time to some chosen interest that can be picked up and put down, in years when the children are small and domestic duties are paramount. Time thus invested may add up to a worthwhile specialty by middle age. It may be study, writing, sewing, designing—what you will.

The brochure is a catalogue of ideas and suggestions along these lines. If you'd like a copy, send 25c to Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 East 38th Street, New York City 16, and ask for Pamphlet No. 247.—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of The Evening Times.

Mass Feeding Class Tonight

A class in emergency mass feeding will be held in the cafeteria of Allegany High School beginning at 7 p. m. today.

Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias in Allegany County public schools, will be in charge of the class being sponsored jointly by the county chapter of the Red Cross and also the county Civil Defense organization.

The objectives of this evening's class are suitable food to serve in a disaster, an exercise in preparing emergency coffee, making sandwiches and preparing two types of dinner which could be served.

Lonaconing Elects Mayor, Town Council

LONACONING — Wilmoth L. Garlitz, commissioner of water and light, yesterday was elected mayor and two incumbent councilmen were re-elected in the Lonaconing election.

Garlitz was unopposed in his bid for the mayor's post. As president of the Town Council he had been acting mayor of Lonaconing since April 1 when Virgil Alexander resigned. He received 226 votes.

Elected to the four council positions were incumbents John G. Thomas, finance commissioner, and Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, police commissioner; Douglas Waddell, former councilman and Benjamin E. Zarger who will be serving his first term in public office. Waddell led the council ticket with 219 votes.

John W. Wilson was a fifth candidate for the four council posts but ran last on the ticket. He has sought election several times before, Lonaconing officials said.

The unofficial results:

For Mayor (unopposed)
 Wilmoth L. Garlitz ..... 226

For Council

Douglas Waddell	219
John G. Thomas	204
Robert M. Grove	191
Benjamin E. Zarger	153
John W. Wilson	100

Robert Thomas, town clerk, said there were 305 votes cast in yesterday's election. Lonaconing has a total of 356 registered voters.

Frederick H. Sheeley, street commissioner, did not seek re-election this term.

The Mayor and Council will hold its next meeting Tuesday, June 4, when the newly-elected officials will be sworn in and will take office.

During the summer months, officials said, council will meet every first and third Tuesday of the month until next fall. Garlitz will appoint the council positions after being sworn in next month.

All of the girls will model skirts and blouses in a street with no cost to the city.

As this section of the city is growing fast, with a number of new homes under construction, the "City Fathers" felt that the street should be made as lively as possible with all proper fashioning on it in line.

Upon the advice of City Solicitor Edward J. The installation of this equipment requires the service of skilled Western Electric Company craftsmen who have been specially trained for this type of work.

This central office equipment is being installed in the telephone company's new building located on Route 90, south from Gorman, and is of sufficient size to serve all applicants for telephone service in Gorman, Bayard and Mt. Storm.

The actual cutover to dial telephone service for these three communities is scheduled for Sunday, June 2, at 2 a. m., after which time all customers of the telephone company in this area will be able to dial each other direct by dialing first, the two letters of the central office name, OW for Owen, followed by the five numerals of the telephone number being called.

Just prior to the cutover to dial service, Anderson advised that all customers will be provided with a new telephone directory that will list all the new two-letter and five-numeral telephone numbers for Gorman, Bayard and Mt. Storm.

The project started April 8, added including a complete garden and nursery stock department, home handyman's hand and power tools, new painting and decorating department, more than 100 feet of installations of model baths, kitchens, entrance treatments, stair displays and tile of all types as well as self-serve lumber departments.

Forest Camp Plans Ready For Builders

OAKLAND — Drawings and specifications for the two proposed new state boys' forestry camps in Garrett County are nearing completion and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Department of Public Improvement, anticipates that they will be in the hands of contractors next week.

A total of $100,000 was provided in the General Construction Loan of 1956 for the two camps. Of this amount $59,000 is for construction and $11,000 for equipment.

Each camp will accommodate 25 boys and supervisory personnel. Eventually, each camp will have three basic buildings, one for dining hall and kitchen, lobby, recreation room, small laundry, the second, dormitory, toilets, shower rooms, counselor room and locker room; the third for staff, with living facilities for supervisory and training personnel.

The boys themselves, during warm weather, will apply the finishing touches to the buildings and grounds. The work by the boys is to provide training and education.

One camp is located four miles west of Lonaconing in this county. The other is to be on Meadow Mountain at New Germany. The first such camp was opened at Green Ridge forest in Allegany County in May, 1955.

Frostburg Police Receive Short Wave Transmitters

FROSTBURG—Through the cooperation of the Allegany County Civil Defense organization and the Frostburg Fire Department, short wave radio transmitters have been installed on the desks of the city clerk and the chief of police in City Hall here.

These two new sending-receiving units are similar to the set which has been in service at the fire station for some time, and which has proven valuable during a number of fires, both locally and in nearby communities.

The two units were furnished by the Allegany County Civil Defense organization, and were installed by a group of Frostburg firemen under the direction of Kenneth Close, radio officer of the department, who will be in charge of the units.

In case of fire it is possible to keep in close touch with all fire-fighting equipment at the scene of the blaze and in case of an emergency, should all other means of communication fail, it would still be possible to communicate easily and quickly with surrounding communities, to either call for help or answer a request for assistance.

Mt. Savage Variety Fair Scheduled

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage High School faculty will sponsor a Tri-State Variety Fair at the school on Tuesday, June 11, to raise funds to purchase an electronic organ for the school auditorium.

Alfred H. Benna, who is resigning as principal of the high school here, is in charge of arrangements. This fair will be conducted on the final day as his farewell effort in behalf of the Mt. Savage School.

This will be Benna's second such fair at Mt. Savage. His first two years ago attracted some 3,000 persons from many communities in the Tri-State area.

Many different businesses and professions will have exhibits in the school gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria and corridors. The school principal said there will be one of each business except in the field of electronic organs.

There, two different companies will exhibit organs because the faculty has not yet determined from which the school organ will be purchased.

Benna had his first experience in a fair of this type when one was staged at the old Barton High School about 1949, when he was principal there. One also has been conducted at Valley High School in Lonaconing.

There will be entertainment, prizes and refreshments for the fair visitors.

Flood Projects Crews On Two Shifts

The George F. Hazelwood plans to put up forms as other Company has been working two shifts a day in the Wills Creek bed below Baltimore Street in the contract for channel improvement for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Crews this week have been drilling and shooting on double shifts to excavate rock from the right bank of the creek so the right wall and vertical wall can be prepared directly below the present Baltimore Street Bridge.

Work on the temporary span, now almost halfway across the stream, is halted until the wall which will serve as the west abutment can be poured.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer of the Corps of Engineers, said he has been advised the firm's area below the Industrial Dam, Dexter said the firm has cleared most of the area between the river and the old C & O Canal near the Mill Race pumping station on the left side of the stream.

On the other side, the firm has started digging an inspection trench for part of the East Ridge levee between the Western Maryland Railway and the Potomac Edison Company power line.

The Mill Race pumping station, he said, is completed up to where brick work begins, and many of the pipes and conduits to the station, and then to the river, have been completed.

The same firm is excavating rock from Wills Creek near the B & O Viaduct, and may be able to start pouring concrete in the creek this week.

Fort Hill Students To Hold Exhibits

Fort Hill High School will present an open house Monday from 2 until 4 p. m. and from 6 until 9 p. m.

All departments and classrooms will display projects and samples of work done in the various academic, general and commercial subjects, as well as items produced in the school shops.

The gymnasium is being decorated and arranged to resemble a trade show, with displays from the wood shop, machine shop, printing shop, general shop, art departments, and mechanical drawing and drafting.

Student participation is emphasized in the various shop courses, and this exhibition will provide an opportunity for parents and friends to see the progress of the students.

Victor D. Heisey, principal, said some of the machinery used in the shops is being installed temporarily in the gym so visitors can see the lathes, planers, saws, presses and drills in actual production.

In the class rooms, exhibitions of student writing, mathematics, science projects and many other subjects will be displayed. Various social studies are emphasized and graphic exhibits are being prepared to show the value of these courses as well as how they are taught and developed.

The rest of this week, students and instructors will spend most of their "free" or open periods working on the exhibition. Invitations are being sent to all parents.

The general public is invited to both sessions of the exhibition. Mr. Heisey noted that the classroom exhibits will be open from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. only, but the shop exhibits in the gymnasium will be open from 2 to 4 p. m. as well as 6 to 9 p. m.

Tax Limit Vote Urged In Petition

City Plan To Raise
Possible Base 25
Cents Questioned

Petitions are being circulated by a group of local men, headed by Albert A. Douth, attorney, calling for a referendum on the raising of the city tax limit from $1.25 to $1.50 per $100 of assessable property.

"The backers have until June 1 to obtain the names of 20 per cent of the qualified voters of Cumberland."

Doubt issued the following statement outlining the position of his group concerning the raising of the tax limit by the Mayor and City Council:

"All property owners of this city are of course interested in the amount of taxes they must pay to this municipality and all of us wish to pay our fair share of the cost of city government."

Cites High Rate

"However, when we find that the tax rate of this city is already far in excess of the rate in other Maryland cities of comparable size and it is now suggested that our maximum rate be further increased, we believe it is time for the citizens of Cumberland to pause and consider their position."

"Under the municipal home rule act which became effective in 1955, the Mayor and City Council has passed five resolutions and amendments to the City Charter under which the city is operated and which limits or defines the powers of the Mayor and Council."

"The fifth resolution or amendment was passed April 22, 1957 and will become effective June 11 unless a petition for a referendum is presented before June 1."

"The amendment or resolution provides for the raising of the tax limit in addition to the usual taxes necessary to cover the requirements of the city's bonded indebtedness."

Increase Too Fast

"When we consider that last year with a tax limit at $1.25 for general purposes, we were obliged to pay $1.58 per $100 of assessable property -- about 33 cents was added to cover the bonded indebtedness -- it is not difficult to see that with a tax rate limit of $1.50 under the 'Fifth Amendment' our taxes will probably be about $1.85 if not more for the coming fiscal year."

"Too many of our citizens are under the impression that the tax rate limit must be increased to cover the bonded indebtedness. This is not so as the amortization and interest requirements of the city's bonds are added to the tax provided for general purposes and the tax limitation covers only taxes for these general purposes exclusive of the bond requirements."

"No thinking person would object to such a substantial increase in the tax limit under the City Charter if none had been made in recent years. However, a check of the local legislative act shows that the tax limit for the city's general purposes was fixed at 50 cents in 1919, at $1.25 in 1933 and now this limit has been raised to $1.50. This is an increase of 60 per cent in less than eight years."

"We know that the cost of city government is increasing, but it should not increase quite that fast."

Watchers Get Big Show At Bridge Site

The sidewalk superintendents taking advantage of the Baltimore Street Bridge to watch lower Wills Creek channel work are getting a big show this week.

The blasting crew is the central attraction as its tamps the explosives into holes previously drilled in the bed rock.

A crane places heavy mats over the holes that were charged. This is to keep rock from flying.

Then when the explosive is ready to be set off, the crane moves to a safe position, with drilling crews and the powder gang also going to safety.

All traffic on Greene Street and Baltimore Street is stopped so no cars are on the bridge when the blast is set off.

The sidewalk superintendents, usually ten to 20 on "duty" at all times, are also "shooed off" the bridge.

Then the blast is set off by the electric charger located under the bridge.

The sidewalk superintendents, then return, the mats are lifted off the crushed rock, the crews then charge another set of holes, and the whole procedure is repeated.

Bathhouse Is Improved At Park Pool

Patrons of the swimming pool at Constitution Park will find a redesigned, newly-painted bathhouse interior when the pool opens for the summer season Memorial Day, May 30.

Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, said the bathhouse renovation was worked out by N. Gwynn Fletcher, former recreation director, and himself and work was done by park personnel.

The pool itself is also being cleaned and checked, Golden said.

The bathhouse interior has been repainted in two shades of green and with a touch of gray.

A new method of selling tickets has been devised and a two-way entrance system installed to prevent logjams at the bathhouse entranceways. Under a new combined operation of the basket room, Golden said baskets can be dispensed and collected in a more efficient manner and it will require less personnel.

Approximately 1,000 baskets for clothing are available. Three hundred of these, plus new racks, are new.

Combining of two basket rooms into one makes the building interior easier to clean and ventilate, Golden said, and the extra basket room has been enlarged four feet.

Space has also been provided for an office and first aid room which will be fully equipped for an emergency. Equipment will include a resuscitator.

Meanwhile, "operation clean up" is underway in other sections of the park and the various animal pens put into shape for another anticipated heavy inflow of visitors.

Gene Mason, acting recreation director, said the deadline for applications for summer job jobs, including the pool, is Friday and successful applicants will be announced within the next two weeks.

Mason added that the remodeling at the park pool will result in a reduction in the number of employees needed there.

Cut-in Slated For Filters

Residents along the city's main water line are being asked to conserve water Friday morning while the final cut-in is made at Lake Gordon in connection with the filter alteration project.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said today work on the final phase of this project will begin about 7:30 a. m. and probably be finished by 1 p. m.

The work involves turning water through new pipes into the fluctuating basin.

During the period work is underway, water pressure will be low. In some sections of Bedford Road, direct notification will be made, Edwards added.

As far as the filter alteration project is concerned, Friday morning's cut-in will mark the completion. However, Edwards added there are a number of improvements which have been suggested elsewhere in the plant for consideration at a future date.

Worker Improves

James Clark, 41, of 177 North Mechanic Street, is reported "slightly improved" at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted yesterday after being injured on a construction job at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company site.

Magazine Article Reports On Western Maryland Stock Ten Tourists Revealed As Workers Here

An article in "Railway Progress," a monthly magazine published for the railroad industry, states that keen-minded investors trebled their money in Western Maryland Railway common stock between 1954 and 1956 due to certain special features of this unusual eastern carrier.

The article states that the WM operates 846 miles of line from Baltimore westward, its main line down into the West Virginia coal fields and up to a junction with western connections at Connettsville, Pa.

Midway in this stretch, it gathers sizeable interchange from the B&O (which owns 43 per cent of the WM stock) and Norfolk and Western for transshipment to Philadelphia and New York, primarily via the Reading Railroad.

Serves As Bridge
Two-thirds of the total tonnage is received from connections, most of it "overhead business" in which WM acts as a bridge between carriers. Thus, costly terminal handling is eliminated and nearly half the total is coal.

The article continues: "This combination, fortified by complete dieselization and the virtual absence of passenger business, makes for economical operation in spite of steep mountain grades. The ratio of transportation expense to revenues is about six percentage points less than the national average; the profit margin before income taxes is about twice as great."

"Of course, excellent operating ratios depend on revenue growth as well as cost control, and if Western Maryland's revenue trend is not much better than average, it is one of the best in the east. The reasons are threefold: while national coal production lagged after the war, West Virginia output was rising (and has continued to boom); the short route formed with the Nickel Plate and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia for movements to and from the Midwest has added appreciable to total volume; and the growing importance of Baltimore in foreign trade has given a notable lift to traffic, particularly iron ore imports."

Earnings Spurt
"Its association with the coal and steel industries makes for cyclical earnings swings, but Western Maryland never failed to show black figures, even during the depression. Profits were slim, however, on the preferred stock until 1956, while arrears mounted steeply at the rate of $7 a year. Although earnings (Continued on Page 14)

Sewage Plant Talks Scheduled

Discussions here tomorrow might give the answer to when the city's new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant will go into operation.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said he, engineer Robert T. Regester, advisory supervisor and advisor; representatives of the Moyer Brothers Construction Company, contractor; city auditor Arthur B. Gibson, city Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, Mayor Roy W. Eves and other members of council who wish to attend, are to discuss the project.

The plant had been scheduled to go into operation March 15, but weather, among other things, forced the delay, Buchholz added.

Police Investigating Theft Of Hubcaps

City Police today were investigating the reported theft of four automobile hubcaps from a parked car.

Officer Gordon Rife said James Jones, 741 Maryland Avenue, reported last evening that four hubcaps were taken from his automobile while it was parked at 220 North Lee Street. The caps are valuable at approximately $60.

Witnesses On Stand In Murder Case

Opening Statement Offered By Defense In Keyser Trial

The defense in the murder trial of Howard S. Butler claimed today that the shooting of Mrs. Velma Marie Sharon in his Piedmont apartment last December 30 was accidental.

The opening defense statement was made by Joseph A. Blundon, Keyser attorney, associated with Edward J. Ryan, this city, as defense counsel in the trial underway in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser. Judge Ernest A. See is presiding.

Blundon described the long association between Butler and Mrs. Sharon, said both were deeply in love, showered expensive gifts on each other, pooled their finances and Butler had as recently as a few weeks before the incident discussed the possibility of obtaining a divorce and marrying Mrs. Sharon.

Tells of Events
He also described events of the evening of the shooting which included a visit to a restaurant-lavender at Burlington before they returned to his apartment between 10 and 10:30 p. m. The kitchen-bedroom apartment was separated by an archway.

Blundon said the couple had a few drinks and Mrs. Sharon left the table to go to the bedroom. The weapon with which she was shot had been used by Butler while hunting three days previous and he had not had time to unload it. It was pointed out the gun was of the type that could not be unloaded unless the safety catch was off.

Butler prepared to unload the gun and in doing so must have pulled the safety catch off, Blundon said. The weapon was pointed toward the archway and accidentally discharged, apparently as Mrs. Sharon walked toward the archway from the bedroom. Butler, he said, saw her fall, picked her up and placed her on the bed. His first thought, Blundon added, was to do away with himself. He then shot himself in the jaw. After that, Blundon said, Butler remembered nothing, but must have gone to the telephone and collapsed as in the hallway.

The defense claims that the state has not proved motive, since there was none, and the shooting was accidental.

Daughter On Stand
The first defense witness before the noon recess was Mrs. Virginia Strickler, Butler's daughter, who said her father and Mrs. Sharon had been associated for 25 years and that he had discussed a divorce to enable him to marry Mrs. Sharon only a few weeks before the shooting. She said she had told him she believed their marriage would be a fine thing.

Butler's son, Charles, also of Piedmont, was the next witness. He verified defense claims about the type of gun involved in the shooting and added he was present when his father was questioned at the hospital by West Virginia State Police. He said his father was in a dazed condition and he (the son) had advised him not to answer questions without advice of counsel.

State Trooper Charles C. Oliver was the main state witness before a mid-morning recess today. Four witnesses gave testimony yesterday.

Oliver told of visiting the apartment after the shooting. He said four discharged deer rifle cartridges were found. These were placed on exhibit by the court. In addition, Oliver said seven unspent cartridges were found in a pouch and 15 more in a box.

The defense admitted the woman had been shot by one of the

In Keyser Trial

The defense in the murder trial of Howard S. Butler claimed today that the shooting of Mrs. Velma Marie Sharon in his Piedmont apartment last December 30 was accidental.

The opening defense statement was made by Joseph A. Blundon, Keyser attorney, associated with Edward J. Ryan, this city, as defense counsel in the trial underway in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser. Judge Ernest A. See is presiding.

Blundon described the long association between Butler and Mrs. Sharon, said both were deeply in love, showered expensive gifts on each other, pooled their finances and Butler had as recently as a few weeks before the incident discussed the possibility of obtaining a divorce and marrying Mrs. Sharon.

Tells of Events
He also described events of the evening of the shooting which included a visit to a restaurant-lavender at Burlington before they returned to his apartment between 10 and 10:30 p. m. The kitchen-bedroom apartment was separated by an archway.

Blundon said the couple had a few drinks and Mrs. Sharon left the table to go to the bedroom. The weapon with which she was shot had been used by Butler while hunting three days previous and he had not had time to unload it. It was pointed out the gun was of the type that could not be unloaded unless the safety catch was off.

Butler prepared to unload the gun and in doing so must have pulled the safety catch off, Blundon said. The weapon was pointed toward the archway and accidentally discharged, apparently as Mrs. Sharon walked toward the archway from the bedroom. Butler, he said, saw her fall, picked her up and placed her on the bed. His first thought, Blundon added, was to do away with himself. He then shot himself in the jaw. After that, Blundon said, Butler remembered nothing, but must have gone to the telephone and collapsed as in the hallway.

The defense claims that the state has not proved motive, since there was none, and the shooting was accidental.

Daughter On Stand
The first defense witness before the noon recess was Mrs. Virginia Strickler, Butler's daughter, who said her father and Mrs. Sharon had been associated for 25 years and that he had discussed a divorce to enable him to marry Mrs. Sharon only a few weeks before the shooting. She said she had told him she believed their marriage would be a fine thing.

Butler's son, Charles, also of Piedmont, was the next witness. He verified defense claims about the type of gun involved in the shooting and added he was present when his father was questioned at the hospital by West Virginia State Police. He said his father was in a dazed condition and he (the son) had advised him not to answer questions without advice of counsel.

State Trooper Charles C. Oliver was the main state witness before a mid-morning recess today. Four witnesses gave testimony yesterday.

Oliver told of visiting the apartment after the shooting. He said four discharged deer rifle cartridges were found. These were placed on exhibit by the court. In addition, Oliver said seven unspent cartridges were found in a pouch and 15 more in a box.

The defense admitted the woman had been shot by one of the

Final Reunion Plans Scheduled

Final plans for the reunion of the Class of 1942 of Allegheny High School will be made Monday, May 27, at 7:30 p. m. at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John L. Robinson, Catskill Avenue.

Charles Smith, reunion chairman, said the committee met this week at his residence and mailed reminders to members of the class.

The reunion will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Robert E. Barnard, member of the class, will be toastmaster at the dinner, Smith said.

Earnings Spurt
"Its association with the coal and steel industries makes for cyclical earnings swings, but Western Maryland never failed to show black figures, even during the depression. Sewage Plant Talks Scheduled

Discussions here tomorrow might give the answer to when the city's new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant will go into operation.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said he, engineer Robert T. Regester, advisory supervisor and advisor; representatives of the Moyer Brothers Construction Company, contractor; city auditor Arthur B. Gibson, city Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, Mayor Roy W. Eves and other members of council who wish to attend, are to discuss the project.

The plant had been scheduled to go into operation March 15, but weather, among other things, forced the delay, Buchholz added.

Police Investigating Theft Of Hubcaps

City Police today were investigating the reported theft of four automobile hubcaps from a parked car.

Officer Gordon Rife said James Jones, 741 Maryland Avenue, reported last evening that four hubcaps were taken from his automobile while it was parked at 220 North Lee Street. The caps are valuable at approximately $60.

spurred after the war, the common stock languished in the market as plans for eliminating the arrears by recapitalization were rebuffed. As late as 1954 it sold at only two times its earnings of $10.77.

To close students of the road's affairs, however, it seemed plain that something would soon be done. In 1955 directors hit upon a plan to clear the backlog by selling additional common stock, using the proceeds and a two-year bank loan to satisfy preferred holders' claims. By then the common was on its way, even though the loan terms called for a further delay in dividends on the stock. In the spring of last year the shares reached a price of $67.

To Pay Off Loan
"Quotations have eased since then, and early last month the stock sold at $58. But the loan will be paid off this year, and analysts feel the common is about to come into its own. As a dividend-paying stock, they reckon, it is unlikely to sell at less than six times its current $10-plus earning power for long. (Incidentally, such earnings are based on 24 per cent more shares than in 1954.) Moreover, prior changes will decline steadily as a result of a recently arranged refinancing of the first preferred stock.

"There are sobering considerations, to be sure. The second preferred stock is convertible into common, which could ultimately mean some earnings dilution. Moreover, dividends may be limited initially by capital requirements of an expansion program for handling growing export-import volume. But like most things about the Western Maryland, this program has favorable long-range implications, as well. For one of the most unusual features of this unusual eastern road is its potential for earnings growth.

Witnesses

bullets but objected to some of the testimony.

Offers Full Evidence
Prosecuting Attorney Donald S. Holt said that inasmuch as the defense had not indicated its type of defense, the state was presenting all evidence possible.

Oliver told of interviewing Butler in his room at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, in the presence of other officers and Butler's son. Oliver said the elder Butler told of being in a beer tavern and returning to Piedmont after drinking heavily and that after the shooting he wanted to take his own life. Butler was shot in the side and face.

The officer said Butler told him no one else was in the room at the time of the shooting and that the woman was sitting on the bed when shot. Oliver said when he asked Butler if he had shot Mrs. Sharon, the son told his father not to answer.

Ryan interrupted to declare: "We don't know who shot who first."

Tells of Scene
Charles Spiker Jr., chief of police at Piedmont who was a patrolman at the time, told of arriving at the shooting scene. Lt. R. I. Boone, Charleston, of the West Virginia State Police Laboratory, told of examining the gun and in answer to a question by Ryan said it did not have a hair trigger.

Donald Mellor, construction engineer for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, who lives nearby, said he was at home with Mrs. Mellor and Mr. and Mrs. G. Harley Dixon when the shots were fired.

The two men said the first and second shots were fired about a third and fourth shots were fired three or four minutes after the first two.

Father Testifies
State witnesses testifying yesterday were William Greenhorn, father of the victim, who said he had no knowledge of any trouble between the two and that Butler had visited his home on several occasions and brought his daughter presents.

Mrs. John Bartlett who lives in an apartment in the rear of the one occupied by Butler said she heard the shots, and notified the telephone operator to call authorities after Butler asked her to do so. On examination by Ryan, she said she did not see the couple enter Butler's apartment the night of the shooting, but had seen them on other occasions.

Gene Keyser, police chief at Piedmont at the time of the shooting recounted events leading up to his finding Butler and the woman on the bed, identified the gun and showed a number of pictures and a drawing of the scene. Keyser also recalled the hospital questioning session. He said Butler told him he vaguely remembered picking up the gun, began to shoot but did not remember shooting out a light in the kitchen.

Chuck Dressen Undecided On Griffith Offer

DETROIT (AP)—Charlie (Chuck) Dressen, bounced from his job as manager of the Washington Senators, remained up in the air today about his future. Should he take a front office post with the last-place American League club or look elsewhere?

"So far," Dressen said, "I have no other offers."

Club president Calvin Griffith, who came here from Washington yesterday to replace the 58-year-old manager with his No. 1 coach, Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, offered Dressen a new position as co-ordinator of player personnel.

"Longer Contract"

"I'm definitely interested," Dressen said, "but I told them it would have to be for more than one year."

Griffith said he planned to return to Washington tomorrow to talk with the club directors about a long-term pact for Dressen.

"That's a problem which will have to be settled by our board of directors," Griffith said. Griffith is the principal stockholder of the club and president of the six-man board.

Dressen made it clear that he would listen to any big league managerial offers he might get. "I'm not asking for any," he emphasized. "I never have gone shopping in my life, but a front office job would be something new for me. Managing a ball club is something I know. That's another reason I'm demanding a long-term contract in this new post."

Dressen, who was manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers when they won the National League championships in 1955 and 1956, took over the Senators in 1955. He has been in and out of the big leagues as a player and manager since 1925.

Starts With Charlie

The 44-year-old Lavagetto was nearing the end of his 18-year playing career when Dressen, as manager of the Oakland Club in the Pacific Coast League in 1950, picked the one-time World Series star as his aide. He has been with Dressen ever since.

The managerial change was a drastic move to shake the Senators out of a nine-game losing streak. The club hasn't finished in the first division in 11 seasons and has gotten off to the worst start of its 57-year American League history, losing 17 of 21 starts this season. The Senators lost 3-1 to the Detroit Tigers yesterday in Lavagetto's first start as a big league manager.

Griffith said the switch in command was "no attempt to kick Chuck upstairs."

"The reason for the change is to strengthen our organization and we know of no other man more qualified than Chuck to scout players and handle them for us," he declared.

Alco Seeks ACL Lead Today; Valley, Bruce, LaSalle Win

Fans attending the Allegany County Baseball League contest this afternoon at Frostburg between Allegany High and Beall had better take their dinner.

For the 11th tilt in 25 yesterday, two teams battled to extra innings before getting a decision. This time it was the Valley nine that edged Mt. Savage, 7-6, in nine frames on the Barton field. It was the fifth contest this spring in which the Black Knights had gone over the regulation seven-innings and their third triumph.

Tighten Race With Win

The one-run victory was also the 12th decided by that margin in the school play circuit for 1957. And, by winning, the Knights tightened the close race by moving within a half game of the deadlocked leaders—Fort Hill and Allegany.

The Campers, who meet Beall at 4 o'clock today in a replay of their seven-inning, 1-1, deadlock, will be out to snare the scramble while the Mounties still have little ambitions and must win to keep alive in the race. Both the Campers and Sentinels have won five of six starts while Valley is 4-1 and Beall 3-2.

No games are listed tomorrow but all eight clubs will be playing Friday as Fort Hill invades Mt. Savage, Allegany is in Westport to meet Bruce, LaSalle plays Valley at Barton and Beall is host to Flintstone. The contests will open the second-half race.

A pitching duel between southpaws Grover Farnbacher of Valley and Wayne Flegle of Mt. Savage was broken up in the eighth on a pair of singles and a stolen base with Farnbacher notching his second win in three decisions. Tom Warnick singled, pilfered second and rode home on a one-bagger by "Butch" Young in the home eighth for the Black Knights' triumph. The loss was the second for Flegle.

Warnick, Young and "Mike" Muir had six of the winners' 11 safeties while Flegle accounted for three of the six safeties off Farnbacher as "Savage" dropped its fourth game by a single run.

LaSalle Extends Streak

LaSalle continued its comeback by recording its third in a row as the Explorers slipped by Beall, 4-2, at Stitzer Field. The winners went to Matt Mullaney with Marshall Winters being handed the defeat.

The Explorers won with a three-run third after Beall had taken a 2-1 edge in the second. "Chazz" Lidge, Van Parsons and Dick Garlitz of the winners had two hits apiece while Jim Skidmore came through with a pair for the Mounties.

The first 1-0 battle was registered yesterday as Bruce blanked Flintstone by that count on the losers' diamond. Jim Newton set the diamond down with three hits while his mates shoved over the lone run in the top of the seventh. "Pete" Guthrie was safe on an error, went to second on a sacrifice by Dick Wilson and scored when Lynn Morris singled to left. Wayne Boggs was the loser, being tapped for six hits.

Morris had a double and pair of singles while Dale Bible solved Newton for a pair of singles. The Aggies have lost six of seven while Bruce stayed tied with LaSalle for fifth with the triumph.

Sands Zooms To Stardom, Fears Plunge

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Less than four months ago, 19-year-old Tommy Sands was a comparatively unknown rock 'n' roll country style singer. Today he's worrying about how long he can last as a star.

"Look," said Tommy "in this business, you can fall just as fast as you've shot up."

Tommy, a brown-eyed, black haired youngster, may be a new-born star, but he's a veteran of 11 years in show business.

Tonight on NBC's hour-long Television Theatre (9 p.m. EDT) Sands will take on his second big dramatic role—the singing son in "Flesh and Blood," a story about a departed American gangster returned to his native land.

The set up is similar to that of his first TV splash last January when he played the lead in "Singing Idol," introduced a song called "Teen Age Crush"—and overnight was both a singing and acting sensation.

He'll act again tonight—and he'll sing a song called "Ring My Phone," and his employers are hoping lightning strikes twice. So does Tom, who is frankly edgy.

Tom's father is a professional musician, a pianist who toured with name bands. When Tommy was small he and his mother spent much of the time with his grandparents on a Louisiana farm.

"I used to get pretty lonely," said Tommy, "and my only company was radio. I just naturally caught on to that folk music x x x."

When he was eight his mother bought him a guitar and he soon landed himself a spot on a Shreveport radio show—"not for money, you understand, but I had a chance to sing."

By 12 he had his own Houston disc jockey show, and also played a 13-year-old boy in a little theater show.

But it was in Los Angeles that the breaks started. He appeared with a local disc jockey and when Elvis Presley was unavailable to play "Singing Idol," Presley's manager suggested Tommy Sands. He was off and running.

"I've got to do as well as I can," he says. "You can fall awfully fast. It isn't as if I was as hot as Presley; I'm not even a tenth as hot as he is. I've got to be a good actor if I am going to stay around."

YF-OW-O-O-O-W!—"Take it easy, doc. Can't you see it's hurting him more than me?" If this pup could talk, that's probably what he'd be telling the veterinarian who gave him his anti-rabies shot as a series of inoculation clinics for dogs got underway in Wheeling, W. Va. Dr. C. A. Schmitt is shown giving the injection to a pup held by Robert Pavluky. The youngster looks as though he is getting "shot."

Cancer Drive Workers Listed

It isn't an easy task to collect approximately $6,000 in small donations in a door-to-door canvass, but that's what has been done by the Women's Division in Allegany County's 1957 Cancer Crusade.

The final total is expected to be more than $6,000 as about ten communities have not made final reports, and some women have indicated it will take them a few more days to make "call-backs" to homes where they've been promised donations.

In addition to the canvassers listed before Crusade Day on May 1 the Women's Division included many more workers whose names were announced today by William Walsh, president of Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society.

Little At A Time:

Gobel Says Fast Success Not For Best

By ATRA BAER

NEW YORK (INS)—Dorothy Dandridge, who has given a shapely cold shoulder to TV, will go to France this summer to do a tele drama written especially for her by Jean Cocteau.

Cocteau is the French Paddy Chayefsky except he writes about unfree people in unreal situations in unlikely places. And I think that's rather nice for a change.

Comedian Jack Carter will also lackle TV in Paris come summer, anyhow that's what his press agent says. Jack also plans to commute back-and-forth from New York.

Gobel To Be Guest
George Gobel is in town to guest on Ray Bolger's show Thursday night (NBC in color) and for the next few weeks Ray's time slot is being shuffled like a Vegas dealer's deck. We'll keep you posted on one of the few remaining comics who has neither ulcers nor a psychoanalyst.

"Outside of my first year when things happened suddenly, I've been going ahead a little at a time," says George, "and I'm more than satisfied. One thing is certain about this business, 'overnight success' isn't a good thing. In order to last, you've got to take it slow and easy."

Signed Up Again
If George were the glowing kind, he'd be touring our city snoring at some of his fellow funny men who predicted he was "through." Gobel's all signed up with NBC for the fall season. He is one of the very few comedians who positively knows where—and if—he'll be working.

"Circus Time" starring Paul Winchell and Jerry Mahoney will stay on through the summer on ABC (Thursdays).

Tonight's top viewing promises to be the U. S. Steel Hour's production of "A Drum Is A Woman" (CBS).

Duke Ellington stars and Margaret Tynes, Joya Sherrill and Ozzie Bailey get feature billing.

Carmen de Lavallade, comely former prima ballerina with the Metropolitan Opera is also in the cast.

Where's The Billing?
She's married to calypso artist Geoffrey Holder, who told me a couple of weeks ago that Carmen was "delighted and excited about getting her first star-billing on television." Carmen's going to be on the show, but where's the billing? Somebody must have either goofed, spoofed or got mad about something.

Jack E. Leonard, currently billed as "formerly fat," is not as formerly as he was recently.

Pat Boone and Shirley McClain guest on the June 2 Chevy Show. Shirley's an unpredictable girl with a mercurial sense of humor. The last time she was on, I hear that she ad-libbed in an effort to "break up" the teleprompter.

Hal March will replace vacationing Garry Moore on "I've Got A Secret" starting May 22, providing that Hal can get time out from his movie chores.

Boy Scouts Will Hold District Dinner-Meet

Scouters, cubbers, leaders and their families will attend the annual Nemaquin Trail District Boy Scouts of America dinner meeting next Thursday at Camp Potomac, near Oldtown.

The evening program, which will get underway at 6:30 p. m. will include group singing, fellowship, inspiration, brief reports by the district operating committee chairmen on the progress of projects in the past year, and the election of new district officers for the year beginning July 1.

The district meeting generally is reserved for institutional representatives, district committee members and commissioners, but this year the district committee voted to invite all adult scouts and cubbers, committeemen, unit leaders, assistants, den mothers, and their wives and husbands.

Reservations for the dinner must be made by Tuesday, said R. Bowen Hardesty, district chairman. Institutional representatives will make all reservations for their units by mail to Potomac Council Boy Scouts headquarters. Chairmen of operating committees will check with and make reservations for their members, and district commissioners by writing to scout headquarters Hardesty said.

Meanwhile, preparations have been completed for the district commissioners meeting at Central YMCA tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the first-floor dining room.

Miles G. Thompson Sr. is district commissioner of the Nemaquin Trail District.

Senior Citizens Slate Program

The Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the Cumberland Recreation Department, will hold a coin display tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Elks Club.

The Western Maryland Coin Club, at the request of the Senior Citizens, will present a coin exhibit at the meeting.

Coin experts will evaluate coins brought by the members of the club and Holmes Cessna will answer questions on coins and the Coin Club.

Members of the Senior Citizens were asked to bring along magnifying glasses to identify coins and any coins they wish to have evaluated.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

An article in the exchange magazine said 168 of the 1,032 common stocks listed on March 31 paid cash dividends.

LONDON — (INS) — British Petroleum Co., Ltd., reported today its sales and earnings rose to an all-time high in 1956, despite adverse operations in the final two months due to the Suez Canal closing. ### Caution Loses Possible Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South had little trouble making his two spades. He trumped the third heart lead and went after trumps. West won the second lead with the ace and played a club.

Dummy's king won that lead and a diamond was played. West won with the ace and played a second club. Dummy's ace took this and a diamond was discarded.

Trumps were drawn and West made his nine diamonds at the finish.

A quick look at the East and West hands shows that East could have made four hearts or maybe five. Both East and West must take blame for letting South steal the contract.

East's bidding was the same type of reasoning that causes the ostrich to bury his head in the sand so that the hunters won't see him.

East was pretty sure that he could make four hearts. He also feared that North and South could make four spades. He reasoned that if he bid again North and South would get to that spade game.

It never occurred to East that if North and South had a game they would bid it anyway. South still had a bid coming and would go on if his cards warranted such action.

When the bid came to West he acted like a rabbit. West had a mighty sound raise for his partner. He only held three hearts but an overall almost always shows at least a five-card suit so that was adequate trump support. Then West's two aces were real good cards. The worst that could happen if he had bid three hearts would be that East would go down a trick.

West should have taken that slight risk and bid three hearts. Then East would surely have pulled his head out of the sand and bid the game.

CHARD Sense

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold the same hand. Your partner rebids to two diamonds. What do you do?
(Answer Below)

Cagey Squeeze In Small Slam

Larceny Lou himself could have done no better than today's South.

The opening club lead was won by dummy's king. East dropped the deuce. The queen of hearts lead lost to West's king. West had a single-track mind and continued clubs in spite of his partner's discouraging deuce.

Opening lead—♣ 10

South won this trick with the queen, entered dummy with the nine of trumps and discarded the eight of diamonds on the ace of clubs.

His next play was the five of diamonds and it was up to East to make a decision. He counted South's hand to the extent that South had started with seven hearts, two clubs, and four other cards. If those cards had been three spades and a diamond the ace of diamonds play would lose the hand.

Then East went one step further and reasoned that a low diamond play could not hurt him. Even if South sneaked in a singleton jack he would only have 11 tricks. Hence East played low and the roof fell on him.

South won with the jack and proceeded to run his entire heart suit, discarding down to the ace and queen of spades in dummy. East had to hold king and one spade so that the last trump lead squeezed him out of his ace of diamonds whereupon South made the last two tricks with his seven of diamonds and dummy's ace of spades.

Even though East failed to see the possibility of the squeeze he could well have afforded to go right up with the ace of diamonds. He should have realized that declarer would have ditched a diamond on the club right away if he really has started with only one card in that suit.
